Admission to the Masters in Nutrition Program

Applicants seeking admission to the Master of Science in Nutrition program must meet the following requirements:

1. Applicants must have a bachelor’s degree from a nationally accredited undergraduate program.
2. Applicants must have an overall GPA of 2.5 or higher on a 4.0 scale or a 2.75 GPA in the last 60 hours of their undergraduate degree program.
3. Applicants must satisfy the necessary prerequisites as prescribed for the Master of Science in Nutrition. All students desiring entrance to the program will receive a review of their prior coursework. In some instances, leveling course work may be required if undergraduate course transcripts do not provide sufficient evidence for successful mastery of cognitive and/or practical applied skills and abilities as related to the program. All leveling courses are taken online.
